

Leading Change

Experience running a major organisational change initiative in an AI Computer Simulation

Proactively Manage Change to Deliver Results

Too often managers and leaders who are skilled at managing business-as-usual, are thrust into leading and managing change without the necessary skills and tools. This leads to stress, chaos and failure. Learn to positively shape the future of your business in this risk-free simulated environment.

Beneficial For Anyone Who Needs to Engage and Influence Stakeholders

- Managers of all levels who need to build consensus between internal and external stakeholders to achieve their objective.
- Those who manage or sponsor projects and team members

Academically Renowned AI Simulation

- Develop the skills to handle complex and demanding situations where there aren't clear "right answers".
- Cultivate strong project management skills through experience in the simulation and subsequent reflection.
- Embrace this learning opportunity to make mistakes in an environment where errors do not negatively impact your organisation or career.
